LOCAL & GENERAL NEWS.

But did it not blow last night!
 Letter from "Nota Bene" received.
 Smith's Skating Rink at Hilo opens to-night for the first time.
 Disagreeable and squally weather is reported about Maui.
 The hauling up of the steamer W. G. Hall has been postponed until her next trip.
 All concerned are warned that the steam roller will be running on King street, opposite the Wash House, on Monday.
 A native sailor named Kaelai died of heart disease on board the steamer Kinan at Maalaea Bay last night, at 10.15 o'clock.
 The Kinan brings news of heavy winds and rough seas about Hawaii. A freight house was blown down on Monday last at Kawaihine.
 The Hawaiian Mission Children's Society will meet at the residence of Hon. S. N. Castle this evening, Saturday the 21st of November.
 A party of bloods went from town last night to hold high revelry at Waikiki, taking four hula girls and a native string band with them in two wagonettes.
 Mr. Henry Waterhouse was elected one of the Vice-Presidents of the California State Y. M. C. A., and Mr. S. D. Fuller was appointed Corresponding Secretary in Honolulu.

The circus landed at Kahului in good order. The first performance was greeted with a crowded tent and a deluge of rain. The second show was billed for last night.

Two parcels of land at Laie-maloo, Koolau district, Oahu, were sold by E. P. Adams & Co. to-day, under foreclosure of mortgage, being knocked down to Cecil Brown for $475.

So far as the agents here are aware, there will be no break in the regular trips of the Oceanic steamers before the middle of next month. However, there is no absolute certainty in the matter until after the arrival of the Alameda.

Last Saturday night by some unknown means the cane fields of Honoupo Sugar Co., Kau, Hawaii, caught fire and after burning about 50 acres of sugar cane and all the surrounding trees and grass, it exhausted itself and died a natural death.

ANNUAL MEETING—THE YEAR'S DOINGS—A NOBLE WORK.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held last evening in the Y. M. C. A. Hall. The platform and desk were luxuriant in floral decorations. Palm leaves, ferns and flowers were also artistically arranged in different parts of the hall. A small banner over the platform bore the motto, in large letters, "FOR GOD, FOR HOME AND HUMANITY." Underneath this hung a scroll, with a handsomely worked monogram W. C. T. U. in the center. A small blackboard to the right of the choir bore the inscription, 110,806 gallons liquor, $851,306; Schools and Education $80,000; Protestant Churches and Missions $50,000;—comparative expenses for 1884.

The chair was taken by the President, Mrs. J. M. Whitney. The Rev. A. O. Forbes opened the meeting with reading of the scriptures and prayer. The proceedings of the evening were enlivened by excellent piano and violin music, the former by Mrs. J. E. Hanford, the latter by Professor Yarnley. The report of the Honolulu Union was read by the secretary, Mrs. R. J. Green, giving an able and comprehensive review of their operations during the year. The Treasurer, Mrs. C. M. Hyde, presented the financial statement, showing that the funds have been liberally sustained and judiciously administered, leaving a balance on hand of $141.29. The President read an ably written historical account of the W. C. T. U. from its origin to the present time. Miss Mary Green, who has been employed by the Union in temperance mission work on the Islands, presented the report of her doings in the past year.

MISS GREEN'S REPORT.

When the ladies of the W. C. T. U. a year ago, undertook this temperance work on these Islands, it was emphatically pioneer work. We had little plan as to how it should be carried on, or how extensive it should become. As the work developed under our hands, it became evident that a large portion of our strength should be devoted to the Hawaiians. The fearful increase of intemperance among them within a few years, the fact that they are in so large a measure the voters and the law makers of the country, and more emphatically the sad evidence on every hand, that not only individuals, but the entire nation is doomed, unless the tide of intemperance and other vices can be arrested, forced this conviction upon us.

Following this plan, the ladies of this association, in connection with the Woman's Board of Missions, engaged me to devote my whole time to temperance and evangelistic work among the native people. In other words, my work is to preach and teach gospel temperance; because we are sure that temperance only can be successful, as it is founded upon religion. I commenced labor the first of March by visiting from house to house, and endeavoring to awaken an interest among native men and women in the cause. We were soon able to organize the first society among Hawaiians in this city, which we named "He Ahahui hoole waiona o na Kanaka Hawaii." (The Hawaiian Temperance Society) It now numbers 90 men, women and children. We hold a meeting every Thursday p. m. and the members show very commendable interest, and even enthusiasm. Our first out station was Kamoiili, three miles east of the city, where we have a flourishing society of 64 members. They report that, whereas that district was formerly noted for drunkenness and disorder, especially on holidays, now there has not been a case of intemperance known for several months; and that none of those who have signed the pledge have fallen. We have also organized branch societies in Manoa, and at Waikiki, and hope soon to form others in this vicinity. When Mrs. Leavitt was here, she visited Hilo and Waikuku, and organized branch societies in those places. At the earnest request of the ladies in Hilo, I went there July 15th. I spent a month there, working with, and for the society, which consists of both foreign and Hawaiian ladies.

I held meetings at the four Protestant churches, and visited from house to house, distributing Hawaiian temperance tracts, and conversing and praying with the people when I could do so. Mrs. F. T. Lyman, the president of the Hilo branch, is an indefatigable worker in the temperance cause at Hilo. I visited 70 Hawaiian homes in Hilo, from Waikaele to Pueo. At the Kalepolepo church the audience was composed of men and women who looked to us longingly, trustfully, for aid and sympathy, as they were in trouble, for intemperance was coming in upon them like a flood.

At Pueo I went to the door of a beer shop. The proprietor was keeping time on a "taro patch fiddle" to the quick steps of three hula girls.

On the 18th of August I left Hilo for Waikuku, having received an earnest solicitation to spend a month in temperance work there. At Waikuku intemperance prevails: religion and morality are at low ebb. We organized a society at the Kaahumanu church, and secured 33 names to the pledge, held several meetings, at the church and prison; distributed tracts, and conversed with many on the streets and by-ways. On the 13th of September we organized a temperance society at Waikapu. Its members number eight. I held temperance meetings there also.

I organized a society at Waihee: 33 have signed the pledge. Much enthusiasm was manifested. September 30th, a union meeting was held at the Waikuku and Waihee societies. The secretaries' reports were encouraging.

Mrs. E. Bailey, President of the W. C. T. U. branch at Waikuku, has shown her interest in temperance work by untiring devotion to the cause. At Paia, Makawao, I was the guest of Rev. J. P. Kuia, a wide awake, active pastor. Here we organized a society. It was indeed gratifying to note the special interest taken in the plans and arrangements for the society, as manifested by the young men. I have this week received from the secretary at Paia, a list of meetings held at Paia, Paibihii, Haiku and Huelo. Total number of those who have signed the pledge at the four places 72.

On the 6th of October I landed at Hana amidst a crowd of welcoming friends. The people of this district are in earnest for temperance. The judge is said to pursue a straightforward course. The pastor of Hana church, and the Government school teacher are patrons of the cause; men of great worth to the country. At our evening meeting a thrilling account was given by a former judge of the district, of having a year since spent a night of drunken revelry: of deliverance from sudden death from falling over a precipice in attempts to reach home, of an interview he held with the pastor, whom he asked to dash in pieces the bottles and glasses, and his determination never to revisit the place of temptation.

Sixty names were pledged at Hana. The children who took an extra three miles' walk that evening each returned with a white ribbon. God bless those boys and girls every one.

By the advice of the W. C. T. U. I returned to Hawaii about the middle of October. While at Waiohinu was the favored guest of Rev. J. Kauhane. Mrs. McCully had previously spent a few weeks there, and much of the success at that place is due to her efforts while there. We held three meetings and organized a society. Seventy-four names were enrolled in the society's book. The day previous to our departure a dinner was given at the parsonage, at which the officers of the newly-formed society were present. That evening we held our last meeting at Waiohinu: it was full of interest; there was no lack of testimony given by those who had tasted by bitter experience the evil effects of intemperance. Among those who signed the pledge was a sweet young mother, a former pupil of ours. She came with her babe; as the white ribbon was tied, I reminded her to do all she could to save her husband. I had noticed her efforts to induce him to sign. In the course of the evening he rose and said, "I try to climb the ladder, get up a little ways and fall; God knows I long to be free from drink."

We waited longingly, prayerfully for one, a young lawyer, in whose welfare his friends feel deeply interested. At last he came forward, signed the pledge, then turned to the audience, and gave utterance to his feelings in a manner that elicited the closest attention. He urged the members of the society to keep watch over each other, and if the judge or any member of the society saw him in danger, to go to his rescue. I tied the badge, and from the heart's depths offered prayer for all who that evening had signed.

A ride of 43 miles brought us to Hookena, South Kona, to the home of Rev. W. G. Waiuu Saturday evening, October 25th. The next morning, at the native church, I addressed the large and flourishing Sabbath School, of which Mr. Robert T. Amalu is superintendent. He has charge of the district school, numbering 116 pupils. Such men as Robert Amalu of Hookena, and Benjamin Kahopai of Hana are blessings to the temperance societies of which they are live members. At Hookena we formed a society, when 85 signed the pledge.

The next day we rode on to Napoopoo, Kealahakua Bay, the home of Rev. Stephen Desha. He, with his estimable wife, have, with God's blessing, wrought a change for the better in the morals and religion of the community.

Sincere regret was expressed by many that we could not extend our temperance work through North Kona, Kohala and Hamakua. I left Hawaii October 28th for Honolulu. The unfeigned cordiality of the Hawaiians that I have met everywhere, the neatness of many homes, the rich fruits of labors spent for Hawaiian pupils of both sexes in boarding and day schools, the large numbers of families of children, induce strong faith in the future upbuilding of the race. May God in His infinite love and mercy save a remnant of this dear people to His honor and glory. I have talked gospel temperance with over 1000 persons. Have organized eleven societies and over five hundred Hawaiians have signed the pledge.

A hymn was sung with piano accompaniment, and the meeting was dismissed with the benediction, pronounced by Rev. A. O. Forbes.

THE COMPETITIVE DRILL.

At a meeting of the captains of the different companies held at the Palace yesterday, His Majesty the King present, it was decided to hold the exhibition drill at the Central Park Skating Rink on the 28th inst., sixty men from each corps to compete. The judges will be Major Benson, Major Purvis and Col. Oppergelt.

The programme will be as follows: The various companies are to assemble at the Armory in undress uniform at about 8.30 o'clock on the morning of the 28th. At 9 o'clock they form line, and at 10 o'clock the Hawaiian militia without firearms, headed by the Royal Band, will proceed to the Kaunakapili church to attend the luau there. After the feast the companies march to the rink, where they will receive arms. The competitive drill begins at two o'clock, led by sixty men from Cos. A and B, Queen's Own. The others follow in the order given: Honolulu Rifles; sixty from Cos. A and B King's Own, under senior captains of each division; Prince's Own, and Royal Guards.

Twenty-five cents will be charged for admission to the rink, the proceeds to be for the benefit of the Kaunakapili church fund.
